Measure: SB1552

It's time for Oregon parents and kids to have school choice. At least a little bit. Why are parents subject to district demands when it's their own child they want the best for? With the radical decision the unions and Kate Brown have put before parents this last 2 years, it's time to get rid of the tyrannical control. Parents need choice and kids deserve it. Let's face it, Oregon kids are behind. They need more advocacy for better schooling and that starts with allowing their parents to make the decisions. Not teachers unions and Kate Brown. Let's remove the 3% hindrance and let Oregon kids have a fighting chance.
