

From:

Rowan O'Connor

What do you want to tell legislators about the proposed $1.9 Billion Rose Quarter Freeway Expansion and Oregon's transportation system?

Our first priority as a community in Portland should be the environment. We are putting money towards freeways when we could put money towards a more enjoyable experience on public transport, getting more people to use that instead. Not only is the environment the most important priority, but there needs to be a handle on the people already driving on Portland freeways before giving them more space to speed 20+ mph and maneuver through traffic like it's a video game. People without license plates go unchecked, people cut people off for no reason, and there is no one to enforce that behavior. Adding more to our freeways just adds more playability with these people who think driving is a video game.