

To whom it may concern,

Prop 110 has failed.

You have actually turned your backs on the very people you claim to be supporting. Legalizing small amounts of drugs just keeps addicts isolated. When it was illegal they would be in and out of jail - forced to stand in front of a judge. Held accountable. Now they are ignored.

These homeless street drug addicts aren't in need of a tent. They are in need of rehabilitation. And most won't ask for rehab. They just live for the next hit. And the next hit could mean their death. Narcan won't change their situation. They are not living, they are existing - for the next drug hit. They are not capable of making good decisions for themselves. The caring thing is to make that decision for them and force mandatory rehabilitation. If this was your son or daughter you would make that decision. Make the right decision for these people who can't make it for themselves.

Overturn prop 110 and get these people back to life through mandatory rehab.

Thank you for your time,
Karen Fameli

Sent from my iPhone