

I voted for this, like many Portlanders, believing that it would help people. We were naive to think that this could work without a larger structure—National.

There are now people openly taking drugs from my child's school and from the neighborhood playground. When I asked a police officer why he couldn't stop them from doing this, he replied Measure 110. It wasn't worth their time even if a drug deal was going on, which they are, all the time.

Please come down to my neighborhood near Couch Park in Northwest, if you think I'm exaggerating. My family feels like we're living in an alternate universe, in which children are expected to put up with garbage, violence, drug use, and crime, while those perpetuating these activities are encouraged to keep doing so.

Thank you,
