

Hello,

I urge you to find a way to nullify the dangerous parts of BM 110. Portland has sunk to a new low that is being talked about across the country. We must reclaim our vibrant city.

As a location photographer and Oregon certified Women Business Enterprise, I experience life on our streets on a daily basis. It has been scary. I have had many opportunities to see open drug use, mental health breakdowns and violent behavior. I have been chased and had a rental scooter tossed at my car while photographing a building downtown.

This is not the Portland I have loved since moving here in 1989. PLEASE make changes!

Sally Painter