

Hello,

I think that public transit is one of the best investments a government can make to serve its people. Not only does it cut down on pollution and greenhouse gasses, which helps everyone, it makes a region significantly friendlier to tourism; an economic boon for the State. Additionally, it costs way less than a personal vehicle which is especially salient these days as the average cost of a new car is quite high.

Thank you for your time,
Ryan Andrada-Foster, Portland