

The Oregon Legislature should abandon any projects focused on expanding highways or roadways for funding of the transportation package next year. Instead all tax dollars should go towards the expansion of the Max Trimet system in Portland, Bus rapid transit in Eugene, and a statewide commuter rail system that connects the whole state. Projects that build more bike infrastructure and Transit Oriented Development should be prioritized too.