

A good public transportation system reduces the need for driving, reducing pollution, traffic congestion and increases pedestrian and bicycling safety by reducing car traffic.