

Submitted testimony from Mark Linehan, Portland below the line:

---

First things first: the focus of the transportation budget should be ongoing maintenance. Capital expenditures and big highway expansions get a lot of press, but the ongoing work of taking care of what we already have can get ignored. Let's take care of our existing transportation investments before we make new ones.