

We need to prioritize accessible and environmentally-friendly public transit. That's what's best for the climate and for fostering community. Expanding highways is a dead end. It creates pollution and leads to further congestion.