The data is for accepted disabling, denied disabling, and denied nondisabling workers' compensation claims. Nondisabling claims. Insurers are not required to report these claims to the Oregon Workers' Compensation

In Oregon, a disabling claim occurs when an injury causes the worker temporary disability (time-loss), the worker permanent disability, or the injury results in the worker's death. Generally, a worker must miss three or more days of work due to temporary disability. A nondisabling claim occurs when the worker only requires medical services, meaning temporary disability and they do not have a reasonable expectation of permanent impairment.

Workers' compensation insurers have 60 days to determine whether to accept or deny a claim. Insurers have 60 days to report the claim information to WCD. This results in a lag time in reported

Workers have 60 days to appeal denied claims to the Oregon Workers' Compensation Board. If the denial is overturned, the claim can be changed to accepted status.
