

Please focus on sustainable transportation. Things like biking, walking and public transit. This would be a way to look to the future instead of clinging on to the past. I say this based for environmental reason as well as safety. This will lower our city's emissions, as well as brake debris and other contaminants that electric cars unfortunately also produce.

Additionally I have witnessed a woman killed by a vehicle. It wasn't the woman's fault. It wasn't the drivers. It was the traffic engineer's. The only true way to reduce these unfortunate situations is by reducing the number of cars on the road.

Thank you,
Erik
