

I would like and need the ability to not fear/ death or injury by drivers, This has turned into alarming rate. In stating this perhaps the best way is to add more of us using different modes of going places other than cars. Light rail, speed train, more buses like the FX2 and bike lanes. More 4 way crossings for pedestrians and bicyclists. I think it's very important for safety meaning I get empathy when others are not all packed in single rider cars than not and less likely worried about death or injury from ignorance of drivers. Please be serious and stop pushing more people to choose driving because it's not helping our community stay healthy. It's very stressful to deal with all of the cars on the road and bicycling/ walking/ and public transit clear our heads and help with stress levels. So let's save lives by giving more people the ability to get out of a car. Thank you!
