

Will there still be talk about funding more trains and other mass transit instead of more roads? Or any possibility of making the roads safer for pedestrian and bike traffic, or anything to address the growing amount of e-bike/scooter traffic that can outpace bikes but aren't fast enough to use full car lanes?

Zache Aquila