Why our work matters

- Older Oregonians and Oregonians with disabilities deserve to live their life with dignity and respect and to be is independent as possible.
- All deserve to safe from neglect, abuse and exploitation.
- Those who need help, deserve quality care that treats them with respect.

Conclusion

- Complexity and diversity of experiences.
- The present LTSS outlook does not prepare us for projected needs.
- Demand for services already out strips our supply.
- Change in demographics will result in insufficient informal supports that are a critical part of LTSS.
- Costs of LTC will continue to rise.

Thank you from a consumer

"thank you for all you and DHS do for my family and other families in need - without help from DHS not only would I be going hungry a lot (not starve but no get enough to eat) but I would have died without the OHP medical help - I am so grateful to you all - I am 67 with mild dementia and many health problems and my wife has a lot of health problems too so we cant work and even trying to work from home is not possible for me due to the dementia. you are appreciated and are making a difference in peoples lives - and BTW all the people at [the local] DHS office and on phone have been wonderful, helpful, compassionate people who care - you have a great hardworking team"
