BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Health Authority (OHA) has established a strategic goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. A critical component to meeting this goal is the collection of data on race, ethnicity, language, and disability (REALD); as well as sexual orientation or gender identity (SOGI) in order to identify and address health disparities. Oregon law currently allows REALD and SOGI data to be released only if anonymized and aggregated, but does not specifically prohibit the disclosure of personal REALD and SOGI data as public records.

Senate Bill 216 would clarify the permitted collection and disclosure of race, ethnicity, language, disability, sexual orientation, and gender identity information by the Oregon Health Authority and Department of Human Services.
