BACKGROUND:

Current law allows state boards or commissions to conduct public meetings through telephone or other electronic means, in accordance with public meetings law. The public must be given at least one place where, or one electronic method by which, the meeting can be observed, and must be given the opportunity to access and attend the meeting. Under ORS 192.650 all state boards or commissions must either provide a sound, video, or digital recording or written minutes of its meetings and make those recordings or minutes available to the public within a reasonable time after the meeting.

Senate Bill 11 requires state boards or commissions that conduct public meetings through telephone or other electronic means, in accordance with public meetings law, to record and promptly publish the meeting on a publicly accessible website or hosting service.
