WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Directs the Oregon Criminal Justice Commission (CJC) to study the rates of recidivism and other outcomes of individuals who received a pardon, reprieve or commutation from former Governor Kate Brown. Directs the CJC to compile a report that includes the following: the name and complete criminal history of each individual who received a pardon, reprieve or commutation from former Governor Kate Brown; each crime of conviction and sentence subject to the pardon, reprieve or commutation, and the effect the pardon, reprieve or commutation had on the victim of the crime, if any; whether an individual has been arrested, charged with a crime or convicted of a crime since receiving the pardon, reprieve or commutation, including the specific crimes for each arrest, charge or conviction; a categorization of the crimes by offense level and type for all individuals arrested, charged with a crime or convicted of a crime since receiving a pardon, reprieve or commutation; and whether any individual who was pardoned or had a sentence commuted for a conviction related to controlled substances suffered a fatal overdose after receiving the pardon or commutation. Directs the CJC to provide the report to the interim committees of the Legislative Assembly related to the judiciary by January 1, 2025. Sunsets January 2, 2025.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Senate Bill 348 (2023)
- Effective date of Senate Bill 348 and Senate Bill 393 (2023)

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

Replaces the measure.

BACKGROUND:

Senate Bill 393 MRA directs the CJC to study the rates of recidivism and other outcomes of individuals who received a pardon, reprieve or commutation from former Governor Kate Brown and report its findings to the Legislative Assembly related to the judiciary no later than January 1, 2025.
