BACKGROUND:

This summary is prepared solely for the purpose of allowing the Senate Committee on Housing and Development to move House Bill 2865 A back to the Senate President's desk for re-referral. A revised bill summary may be developed by the subsequent committee; the "What the Measure Does" section and remainder of this background are substantively unchanged from the previous House committee's version.

Current law (ORS 408.290) entitles public employees serving in the National Guard, Guard Reserve, or a reserve component of the Armed Forces or Public Health Service, a 15-day leave of absence without loss of time, pay or regular leave, or other benefits, for initial or annual active-duty training.

Trainings for the Oregon National Guard are usually one weekend a month and two weeks per year. The two-day trainings are typically on weekends, but occasionally Guard members are asked to report on a Friday. Annual trainings can run longer than two weeks, depending on military occupational specialties.

House Bill 2865 A entitles public employees who are members of the National Guard, National Guard Reserve, or any reserve component of Armed Forces or Public Health Service, military leave of absence from duties for up to 21 days a year.
