8 and Development, the Water Resources Department and any other
9 organizations with which the State Department of Agriculture decides
10 to consult or engage shall collaboratively, with the State Department
11 of Agriculture taking the lead role, conduct the research necessary, 12 including research on best practices in other jurisdictions, to discern, 13 and develop specific, science-based recommendations concerning, is-14 sues related to large-scale poultry operations, including but not lim-15 ited to:

16 “(a) The regulatory requirements that would reliably minimize ad-17 verse impacts of large-scale poultry operations on the water supply of 18 adjacent or nearby properties.

19 “(b) The regulatory requirements that would reliably minimize ad-
20 verse impacts, and especially human health impacts, of large-scale 21 poultry operations on air quality at adjacent or nearby locations, in-22 cluding but not limited to the adverse impacts of ammonia emissions.

23 “(c) What, if any, requirements for poultry waste disposal might 24 be warranted to further safeguard water resources and public health.

25 “(d) The system and resources that would be needed to establish 26 and ensure compliance with requirements referenced in paragraphs (a) 27 to (c) of this subsection.

28 “(e) Any regulatory authority, consistent with state land use law,
29 that could be specifically delegated to local governments to respond
30 to perceived or potential conflicts between large-scale poultry oper-

1 ations and other businesses, facilities or individuals in the communi-
2 ties in which the large-scale poultry operations are located.

3 “(2) On or before December 1, 2024, the State Department of Agri-
4 culture shall report to a committee or interim committee of the Leg-
5 islative Assembly related to natural resources, in the manner
6 described in ORS 192.245, on the research and recommendations de-7 scribed in subsection (1) of this section.
