

Submitter: James Martens

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Judiciary

Measure: SB579

People convicted of felonies have already given evidence that they can not make wholesome decisions for themselves, or for society in general. Why would we give them the right to influence the rest of us through the right to vote? We make sure the driver behind the wheel knows and obeys DMV regulations. Should society be steered by those who break its laws? Vote NO on SB 579.
