Measure: SB767

The waiting lists for charter schools of parents seeking alternatives for their children tell us that there is a clear demand for charter schools.

We need to keep the right as parents, to be able to choose, how and where our kids are educated.

Charter schools allow parents to do so.

If this bill passes it will surely guarantee many more children leaving the public school system in search for better options for their children, such as homeschooling or private school.

Education, just like the medical field, is not a one size fits all approach. We need to allow options and have the right to choose what is best for our children.
