I think this could really harm the people that have gone to school to keep up their credentials. I also believe that the patients could be at risk of injury or infection. If an assistant doesn't understand how important it is to disinfect a work area, to keep themselves and the patients out of harm, that could be dangerous. I believe that some CDAs would loose their job if the office could pay someone else a cheaper wage to do the same duties. I love my job and I would hate to loose it because this is passed.
