Measure: SB426

This bill passes the buck in terms of what it really is about: banning the use of Bayer/Monsanto's Glyphosate in Oregon Schools.

A ban is a good thing - so the legislature should just ban glyphosate. As it is, the bill authorizes a wishy-washy advisory committee to kinda sorta talk about things for some time (when the bill's sponsors will be out of office) and then maybe or perhaps the Dept. of Agriculture might get around to looking at the Glyphosate issue "in consultation" with the corrupt Oregon Wealth Authority and the Dept. of Education and then convene a committee that might have some "interested stakeholders" [i.e. Monsanto crony donors to the legislature] who will give the "other side" on behalf of industry or something .... so this bill pretends to do something when it really isn't doing anything.

So, yeah, the Oregon Legislature Looks "Tuff" when you all are really shills for Big Chemical.
