

-- Sent from Jessica Campbell to Senator Floyd Prozanski on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Jessica Campbell
980 W 16th Ave
Eugene, OR 97402

-- Sent from ray ochoa to Senator Floyd Prozanski on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
ray ochoa
2401 Birch Ln
Eugene, OR 97403

-- Sent from Karryn Kimball to Senator Floyd Prozanski on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Karryn Kimball
2901 Fenya St
Springfield, OR 97477

-- Sent from Leigha Bickford to Senator Sara Gelser Blouin on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Leigha Bickford
4473 Bounty PI NE
Albany, OR 97322

-- Sent from Danae Merrill to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Danae Merrill
8539 N Saint Louis Ave
Portland, OR 97203

-- Sent from Paula Amato to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Paula Amato
1835 SE Spokane St
Portland, OR 97202

-- Sent from Rachel Hein to Senator Elizabeth Steiner on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Rachel Hein
830 NW Island Terrace
Beaverton, OR 97006

-- Sent from Rachel Hein to Senator Elizabeth Steiner on Feb 9, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Rachel Hein
830 NW Island Terrace
Beaverton, OR 97006

-- Sent from Nathan Hein to Senator Elizabeth Steiner on Feb 8, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Nathan Hein
830 NW Island Terrace
Beaverton, OR 97006

-- Sent from Chelsea Simpson to Senator Aaron Woods on Feb 9, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Chelsea Simpson
13935 SW 104th Ave
Tigard, OR 97223

-- Sent from Kara Frazier to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As a woman who was diagnosed with breast cancer at 26, who was told it was unsafe to get pregnant for 10 years, and after new research was told it's ok, and who has been trying to get pregnant for over 2 years, I need you to please listen to me. I need your help!! I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

Why hasn't Oregon changed insurance laws to include coverage for infertility? Why is it safe for people to drive smoke marijuana, but people who have been struck with cancer cannot get the help they need? This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility.

Senator Wagner, I voted for you and I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kara Frazier
4800 S Macadam Ave
Portland, OR 97239

-- Sent from Kara Frazier to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kara Frazier
4800 S Macadam Ave
Portland, OR 97239

-- Sent from Kate Begonia to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kate Begonia
5701 SW Hamilton St
Portland, OR 97221

-- Sent from Kristi Van Vleck to Senator Fred Girod on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kristi Van Vleck
10941 Arndt Rd NE
Aurora, OR 97002

-- Sent from Ketty Miller to Senator Kayse Jama on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Ketty Miller
14209 NE Eugene Ct
Portland, OR 97230

-- Sent from Molly Lindquist to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Molly Lindquist
2930 SW West Point Ave
Portland, OR 97225

-- Sent from Amanda Vowels to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 10, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Amanda Vowels
2660 SW Crestdale Dr
Portland, OR 97225

-- Sent from John miller to Senator Kayse Jama on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
John miller
14209 NE Eugene Ct
Portland, OR 97230

-- Sent from Emily Hu to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Emily Hu
19250 SW 65th Ave
Tualatin, OR 97062

-- Sent from Mariko Kershaw to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who is struggling to build my family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Mariko Kershaw
13415 SW Barlow Rd
Beaverton, OR 97008

-- Sent from Kate Ivory to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kate Ivory
805 SE Sherman St
Portland, OR 97214

-- Sent from Lindsay Boyer to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lindsay Boyer
8806 N Dwight Ave
Portland, OR 97203

-- Sent from Vanessa Phillips to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Vanessa Phillips
7332 SE Grant St
Portland, OR 97215

-- Sent from Michelle Greenberg to Senator Jeff Golden on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Michelle Greenberg
30 Vintage Cir
Jacksonville, OR 97530

-- Sent from Kayla Little to Senator Chris Gorsek on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kayla Little
1625 SE Roberts Dr
Gresham, OR 97080

-- Sent from Brittany Lundeen to Senator Mark Meek on Feb 11, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Brittany Lundeen
15933 Hunter Ave
Oregon City, OR 97045

-- Sent from Delynne Ellis to Senator Elizabeth Steiner on Feb 12, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Delynne Ellis
2307 NW Hoyt St
Portland, OR 97210

-- Sent from Ladena Heming to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 13, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Ladena Heming
4712 NE 31st Ave
Portland, OR 97211

-- Sent from Anthony Kershaw to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 13, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Anthony Kershaw
11570 SW Bel Aire Ln
Beaverton, OR 97008

-- Sent from Lisa Ewers to Senator Mark Meek on Feb 13, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lisa Ewers
15390 SE Hidden Falls Dr
Clackamas, OR 97015

-- Sent from Robin Lyman to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 14, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Robin Lyman
12324 SW 13th Ct
Portland, OR 97219

-- Sent from Heather Pilkington to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 15, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Heather Pilkington
7770 SW Ellman Ln
Portland, OR 97224

-- Sent from Tilli Slusarenko to Senator Lynn Findley on Feb 16, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, as well as experienced myself. I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Tilli Slusarenko
302 NW 5th Ave
John Day, OR 97845

-- Sent from Michelle Beck to Senator Aaron Woods on Feb 16, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Michelle Beck
10580 SW Naeve St
Tigard, OR 97224

-- Sent from Elizabeth Elliott to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 16, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Elizabeth Elliott
5328 NE 40th Ave
Portland, OR 97211

-- Sent from Allen Chen to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 17, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Allen Chen
13415 SW Barlow Rd
Beaverton, OR 97008

-- Sent from Deidre Bengston to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 17, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Deidre Bengston
12625 SW Tremont St
Portland, OR 97225

-- Sent from Emily Wolff to Senator Brian Boquist on Feb 18, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Emily Wolff
317 S 7th St
Carlton, OR 97111

-- Sent from Whitney Crofut to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 18, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Whitney Crofut
3517 NE Couch St
Portland, OR 97232

-- Sent from Rachel Rubanow to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 18, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Rachel Rubanow
7808 SE Pine St
Portland, OR 97215

-- Sent from Leslie Hydorn to Senator Kayse Jama on Feb 19, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Leslie Hydorn
14224 NE Eugene Ct
Portland, OR 97230

-- Sent from Hailey Trotter to Senator Fred Girod on Feb 20, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Hailey Trotter
4791 Glendale Ave NE
Salem, OR 97305

-- Sent from Nicole Strandberg to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 22, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Nicole Strandberg
1770 NE Irving St
Portland, OR 97232

-- Sent from Maryam Behrouzi to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 22, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Maryam Behrouzi
2829 NE 17th Ave
Portland, OR 97212

-- Sent from Elizabeth Gershenzon to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 22, 2023

--

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Elizabeth Gershenzon
4621 NE 76th Ave
Portland, OR 97218

-- Sent from Alyssa orr to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Alyssa orr
2283 Ironwood St
Sweet Home, OR 97386

-- Sent from Parker Sczepanik to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Parker Sczepanik
10243 N Allegheny Ave
Portland, OR 97203

-- Sent from Gabriella Hanselman to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 23, 2023

--

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Gabriella Hanselman
1240 NE 51st Ave
Portland, OR 97213

-- Sent from Sarah Marrin to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Sarah Marrin
4246 NE Wygant St
Portland, OR 97218

-- Sent from Rachel Chang to Senator Sara Gelser Blouin on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Rachel Chang
2760 NW Amble Side St
Albany, OR 97321

-- Sent from emma cooper to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
emma cooper
2829 SE Colt Dr
Portland, OR 97202

-- Sent from Stephanie Adams to Senator Elizabeth Steiner on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Stephanie Adams
10605 NW Lost Park Dr
Portland, OR 97229

-- Sent from Karlee Lawler to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Karlee Lawler
6701 SE 52nd Ave
Portland, OR 97206

-- Sent from McKinzee Gonsalves to Senator Jeff Golden on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
McKinzee Gonsalves
1251 Paulita Dr
Medford, OR 97504

-- Sent from Lynda Hathaway to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lynda Hathaway
4404 NE 16th Ave
Portland, OR 97211

-- Sent from Courtney Clark to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Courtney Clark
11470 SW Ridgecrest Dr
Beaverton, OR 97008

-- Sent from Sherie Gause to Senator Rob Wagner on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Sherie Gause
1200 SW Ophelia St
Portland, OR 97219

-- Sent from Megan Cornelius to Senator Dick Anderson on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, (myself included) I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Megan Cornelius
1620 Bayview Dr
Coos Bay, OR 97420

-- Sent from Alyssa Gravelle to Senator Tim Knopp on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Alyssa Gravelle
3751 NW Summerfield Rd
Bend, OR 97701

-- Sent from Donald Garbett to Senator James Manning on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Donald Garbett
3394 Hampton Way
Eugene, OR 97401

-- Sent from Jose Castro to Senator James Manning on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Jose Castro
544 Taney St
Eugene, OR 97402

-- Sent from Talia Coombes to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Talia Coombes
7145 N Greeley Ave
Portland, OR 97217

-- Sent from Carly gusto to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Carly gusto
9434 N Macrum Ave
Portland, OR 97203

-- Sent from Lora Worden to Senator Michael Dembrow on Feb 23, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lora Worden
8025 SE 60th Ave
Portland, OR 97206

-- Sent from Melissa Abu to Senator WLnsvay Campos on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Melissa Abu
19992 SW Jay St
Beaverton, OR 97006

-- Sent from Kelsi Hays to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kelsi Hays
1125 S 11th St
Harrisburg, OR 97446

-- Sent from Merissa Fettis to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Merissa Fettis
1525 Red Hills Pl
Cottage Grove, OR 97424

-- Sent from Katelyn Kernutt to Senator James Manning on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Katelyn Kernutt
2026 Amirante St
Eugene, OR 97402

