Measure: SB422

To Whom It May Concern -

I've been riding motorcycles since 2006 and have regularly experienced the fear of having a vehicle (car, truck, etc.) pull up behind me at a high rate of speed. There's not a riding season that goes by where this doesn't occur, and more often it occurs many a time. When coming to a stop on city streets, I almost always pull to the right or left of the vehicle in front of me to mitigate the opportunity of getting sandwiched between two vehicles. Having spent a good portion of my life in California and personally experienced the benefit of lane filtering (both risk mitigation while on my motorcycle and reduced congestion while in my car), I wholeheartedly support SB422 and recommend each of you does as well.
