Measure: SB422

When waiting in traffic at a stopped light or when traffic has slowed immensely, lane splitting can help motorcyclists not be rear ended because of a vehicle only looking for a car and not a motorcycle. This happens all the time because of drivers not looking out for or not being aware for motorcycles or any vehicle other than a car. It is much safer to filter to a more open spot so we are not sandwiched between 2 cars on the interstate as well.
