On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Education

Measure: SB3

As someone who has worked in the education setting with youth, as well as an employer hiring folks new to the work force, providing training on the skills needed to secure employment and financial support are an important part of high school education. I had the privilege of having this education in my home, based on skills and experiences of family members, but I know there are many students who would most benefit from this resource, that may not have the skills or experiences within their networks. I am in support of SB3 adding this experiential learning credit to the high school curriculum.
