Here's your $1000. thank you for your generous $999 donation to the Democratic party." That's how I imagine this will work in real terms. Help people get up and back to work or into a more healthy situation, but just handing our cash is not going to accomplish that. While you are transferring wealth from working families, you are also failing to return "kicker" tax money to those same families.

I call this legalized plunder. Develop ineffective bureaucracies, then rob from one to give to another...only the cash ends up in the pocket of the powerful.
