

Submitter: Gabrielle Barnes Avila

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Early Childhood and Human Services

Measure: HB2717

I love outdoor education because the opportunities for creative play and exploration are endless. Children are able to establish a strong connection to the natural world around them through seasonal immersion. As an outdoor teacher, I love witnessing the children have the physical freedom to run, jump, climb, and so on without the confinement of four walls.