

Submitter: Vicky Long

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Natural Resources

Measure: SB85

A five year moratorium on permits is ludicrous. If we think food prices are high now, wait until about two years from now if this Bill is passed. As far as Climate affected by ranchers and farmers, no amount of climate action for these industries will be of any consequence especially when we consider what China and India ARE NOT doing for "climate." These two countries do very little for climate concerns and are big contributors. The US has done much more, but what is done here will amount to nothing, especially on an individual state level, as long as China and India stay on their same trajectory. Democrats would do well to lobby officials in these countries, secure agreements and leave Oregon ranchers and farmers alone.