

OREGON RODEOS

TRAVEL  OREGON

Crooked River Roundup

The year 2020 is the celebration of the 75th rodeo that has captivated the hearts of those in Central Oregon and beyond. This medium sized PRCA rodeo brings "western" back to rodeo. A punchy rodeo that includes a long alley roping setup and local events like the wild horse race and ranch bronc riding. Everyone loves to watch the kids in the calf scramble and the older fellas in the wild cow milking. Breakaway roping brings in more excitement and gets local gals in the arena. The PRCA events bring contestants from around the country who enjoy the challenges of great stock and the long alley for roping. What started in a pasture with a human fence has grown in 75 amazing years to a three-night event bringing in thousands. The Crooked River Roundup earned the "2018 Medium Rodeo of the Year" from the Columbia River Circuit, and wins hearts every year for the sport of rodeo.

Chief Joseph Days

Chief Joseph Days

The tiny town of Joseph swells to ten times its normal size when it welcomes thousands of visitors to Chief Joseph Days. Held the last full week in July since 1946, Chief Joseph Days celebrates the history and culture of the West over six days. Visitors enjoy nightly PRCA rodeos Wednesday through Saturday, starting at 7 p.m. at the Harley Tucker Memorial Arena just off Main Street. Chief Joseph Days has seen its share of recognition. Cowboys & Indians called it a "Best Fest of the West," and it won "Best Medium Size Rodeo" for the Columbia Circuit in 2018. Chief Joseph Days was the only small rodeo to make a Top 10 Must See Rodeos list with the likes of the Pendleton Round-Up. Named for the famous Nez Perce chief, Chief Joseph Days celebrates Nez Perce tribal members from around the region who participate in the Grand Parade down Main Street, and the pre-rodeo show Saturday night. The Nez Perce Friendship Feast is open to the public and features buffalo, salmon and native dancing.

St. Paul Rodeo

The St. Paul Rodeo transforms a town of 425 into the epicenter of professional rodeo during the lucrative 4th of July run or "Cowboy Christmas." The historic St. Paul Rodeo Stadium, constructed in 1944, features Arborvitae trees in the arena - offering a truly unique setting. The day after the rodeo local farmers begin planting grass for the St. Paul Buckaroos 1A football team to play in the arena. With $240,400 in added prize money, the small town of St. Paul ranks in the top 10 of regular season rodeos in the country.

Sisters Rodeo

Columbia County Fair & Rodeo

Held Wednesday through Sunday, the third week of July, the Columbia County Fair & Rodeo is just a short thirty-minute scenic drive from Portland along the Columbia River to St. Helens where the 100 plus year annual tradition makes for a wonderful family outing. In addition to the two-day NPRA Rodeo, there is the Jr. Rodeo as well as the Rodeo Queen Pageant. Other activities include stock car races, live music at the entertainment stage, 4-H presentations, lots of vendor booths with great food, carnival and exhibits.

Pendleton Round-Up

There's a unique quintessence of old traditions and endless amount of history here at the Pendleton Round-Up. With the history dating back to 1910, it has become a notable attraction for tourists and history lovers. The rich cultural heritage of our Native Americans make Pendleton-Round-Up a perfect destination for unforgettable experiences you won't find anywhere else.
