Measure: HB3198

I am dyslexic and it took me into my adult years before I could read. As a result, it was very difficult for me to learn anything since it was so hard for me to read. I was lucky and my partner helped me learn to read and continues to help me (my lower education was very poor since I could not read at the time). I am retired now, but with my partner's support I was able to have a successful career. With this bill, I hope opportunities can open up for children with disabilities.
