

Submitter: Jenny Freeborn

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Natural Resources

Measure: SB789

Farmers should have the right to grow what they want, unimpeded by seed dealers and a select few who think their crop and economic viability is more important than any other farmer's. It's just ridiculous. Canola has been proven to be safe, it's an excellent rotation crop, it grows well, it's economical viable, it's good for the soil and for the environment, AND it's potentially useful for biofuels. Restrictions need to be lifted, farmers need to be allowed to grow what they choose and what works for them and their farms. Not the other way around.

Oppose SB 789.