Measure: HB3382

Bill HB 3382 opens up the potential for dredging in biological hotspots in the Willamette River, Columbia River, Yaquina Bay, and Coos Bay. We shouldn't be re-writing 50-year-old legislation that is protecting our waterways to accommodate out-of-state developers who refuse to comply with eco-friendly regulations. We need to be strengthening the protection of our ecosystems not considering ways to reduce them.
