Measure: HB2004

I am writing in support of HB 2004. I believe building and maintaining a strong representative democracy is crucial for building a strong, responsive government and is vital to the ideals of being governed by and for the people. I also believe that, normatively, elected officials should have support from at least a majority of voters. While I do not believe that ranked choice voting on its own will solve all issues with our electoral system, I do believe that it is an important and vital first step. I urge all members to vote yes.
