What is an “undetectable firearm”?

So many things go into a good firearm that makes it the perfect tool designed for its use that anything that could be crafted undetectable would not be an effective tool. Why is it that the First Amendment is off limits when it comes to government legislation (it's not), but the Right to keep and bear Arms is always under attack? All “gun control” laws are infringements. And unconstitutional when it is the law abiding citizen, a free person, is expected to give up whatever Arms legislators deem societally unsafe. Do something about the criminal element that is committing these tragedies, and leave the rest of us alone.
