Measure: HB2002

Hi Ed, THX for this alert today. I am very much against allowing confused young people to make decision that medically are reversable. Families need both time and love to help young people grow and make wise decision that are positive and mature. Let this kind of surgery be for those who are adults and can pay for it themselves. Schools are currently distracted and not fully focused on reading writing and math. If we don't focus on those 3 foundational principles our new leaders will not be prepared for our nation. Foreigners will take over
THX for voting NO on this miserable bill, 2002.
