

MY AUTHORITY IN THIS SUBJECT:

I was born in Pendleton. I was raised in Echo, Hermiston, and Umatilla. I was educated by Bob Jenson at Blue Mountain Community College on logic, sociology, and writing, but I was at the wheel of a watermelon truck at age five. No disrespect intended, but your burden is to constantly delay the usurpation of our individual rights by a body of reprobate misrepresentatives.

GOVERNMENT POWERS VS INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS:

Our State Constitutional Bill of Rights did more in the first Article to enumerate those individual rights than the US Constitution ever will with its amendments created as a second thought in 1791. It is the best guide to reduce that usurpation of individual rights.

History has shown the Oregon Legislature is incapable of prudence by creating more laws and problems without removing any of them.

Every bill you oppose is, a victory for common sense protecting the rights of law-abiding citizens.

Every time the Legislature is in session, I expect it to create laws just to prove it is run by lawmakers.

I expect the legislature to create new ways to spend money rather than save it.

I expect the legislature to find make laws denying and denying the common sense of those who have a common experience with the equality of powers, privileges, protections, and immunities.

The legislature assumes those who produce food are incompetent to create the best means of production. Most of them have no concept of the environment because they live in bubbles of asphalt, steel, and concrete. They have not stood a mile high near Dead Man's pass to see hundreds of square miles under cultivation and irrigation.

The only unconfined animals are wild and belong to the State of Oregon by law. Senate Bill 85 is a demand to create a two-page justification for more regulation of "confined" or domesticated farm animals is a usurpation of Natural rights inherent in people which Article 1, Section 1, of the Bill of Rights of the Oregon Constitution made clear.

This is yet another example of an attempt to justify regulating property rights to the point of extinguishing all natural rights. It is a relentless power grabbing by making all de jure private property into de facto public property like land-use laws.

There is no essential difference in the progression of power of the State and the establishment of the first Empire of China with the control of all property. Progressing toward compulsive collectivism is not progress. It is a regression backward to tyranny. It makes the governor a monarch and the legislature its aristocracy.

"Your mission, should you accept it," is to preserve individual rights at every turn. The false justification of tyranny with a supposed "substantially related to the achievement of an important governmental interest," is a justification of denying individual rights progressing to absolute statist power.

Democracy is the equality of rights, powers, privileges, powers, and protection when laws are created, interpreted, and implemented. It is not an oligarchy of elites misrepresenting the collective good of the people. Never let Democrats-In-Name-Only or DINO's define democracy or reality.

SPECIFIC REFERENCES TO SB 85's INTENT:

Like Ronald Reagan in 1964, in 1978 I became repented of being a DINO and registered as a Reagan Republican. I say Reagan because he wanted to REDUCE the Republic. Reagan said:

How many of us realize that today federal agents can invade a man's property without a warrant? They can impose a fine without a formal hearing, let alone a trial by jury? And they can seize and sell his property at auction to enforce the payment of that fine. In Chico County, Arkansas, James Wier over-planted his rice allotment. The government obtained a 17,000 dollar judgment. And a U.S. marshal sold his 960-acre farm at auction. The government said it was necessary as a warning to others to make the system work.

You now know SB85 is leading to justifying another attempt to expand government by launching another government program controlled by bureaucrats. As a wise man once said, "No government ever voluntarily reduces itself in size. So, governments' programs, once launched, never disappear. Actually, a government bureau is the nearest thing to eternal life we'll ever see on this earth."
