This is threatening our safety drastically as a criminal won't give a shit what your sign says and will still carry into wherever they wish. Having concealed carriers in public places increases everyone's odds of survival as they are trained and competent to protect themselves or anyone in harms way. That's the entire purpose of becoming concealed is to defend. People feel safe when the police arrive why? Because they are trained and armed and it makes them feel safe because the police are there to help. Well that's 95% of your concealed carriers too. They went through the background check. These people care. Why try to hurt a right that not only protects them but you as well in a life threatening situation.
