I was using for about 6 months and ended up heart failure. I turned my back on my family and was in the worst shape of my life. After I realized that I had lied to my daughter I knew I had to change my life. I turned myself in and told my PO everything I had done. As I was sitting in jail worried about my health, Phoenix wellness center came to see me. They offered me services and told me "as long as you are sober good things will happen" and they have. I've been clean for over a year and a half. Without these services I would still be costing the state tax payers tons of money and resources. Today I live to help people that were just like me.
