

Submitter: Windy Spinney

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Behavioral Health and Health Care

Measure: HB3090

I, as a tobacco user with children who does not feel that banning flavored tobacco will in anyway help prevent underage tobacco use. What the banning would do is take the choices away from adults and hurt retailers. We like our choices, whether it is flavored tobacco or flavored alcohol. If you really think that this will prevent kids from using tobacco, your wrong. If they want tobacco, they will find a way to get it and will use whatever tobacco they can find flavored or not. The banning will also put a financial damper on retail stores and the whole state as far as the tax money that helps fund schools and etc. I don't feel that taking away our adult choices on tobacco will have any good outcome.