Measure: HB2007

I am in strong opposition of this in the fact that I feel the only one that is in charge of there own personal safety is themselves with police response times getting longer and the fact you can't trust anyone else with your own personal safety it is wrong to allow others to be in charge of one's personal safety this would make legal owners unable to protect them selves especially with the drug problem with that comes theft and robberies which puts others at risk. I think we need to give more help to mental health and actually do something about the drug and mental health problem other then catch and release
