

Submitter: Kerry Linhares

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Housing and Development

Measure: SB611

I'm a single woman in my 30s, I make 90K a year and I live alone. Between paying full rent, student loans and essentials like groceries and bills I still find it so difficult to ever imagine buying my own home here, especially on my own without help from a partner or family. I can't imagine how families in Portland today are making ends meet. No wonder we have a housing crisis. Housing is a human right and there absolutely needs to be more policy in place protecting against greedy individuals making their living off the backs of hard working people.