I oppose this bill and its amendment. The issue of human rights and what they entail is the subject of discussion here.

Gun rights, possessing them, and bearing them are human rights derived from our humanity. Society, government, or majority vote cannot take them away from the individual unless the individual himself relinquishes them by voluntary choice or by violating others' rights.

The authors of such bills cannot use their positions to violate people's rights.

You could say that all you want is to protect people from bad people. Well, this is very good, we want that too but you cannot violate our rights in HOPES to achieve that.

You cannot use the law to infringe on people's rights, this would be authoritarianism.
