Measure: HB3390

The passing of this bill as it stands would severely impact the fly fishing and fly tying industries severely. Oregon is the mecca of fly fishing here in the Pacific Northwest, and to arbitrarily limit the access to renewable and sustainable materials to create our flies is asinine. In addition, one of the most renowned fly tying materials company (Hairline Dubbin) could be put out of business due to the passing of these proposed rules.

Fishing, especially fly fishing, is an integral industry, recreational activity, and tourist attraction for our state. Fly Tiers, fly shops, and independent companies will be severely impacted by these proposed rules without careful reexamination.
