Measure: HB3501

Allowing people to set up camps along our sidewalks and in public parks not only takes away those things we treasure, but also diminishes public safety. These places were set up to be used everyone. Why not continue creating places for these residents instead of allowing them to take away from the city the places that make it beautiful, the places we go to relax and enjoy. There are so many vacant properties and buildings that can be repurposed for housing these individuals safely. It's time to cut through the red tape and put this city back together. The current proposal is not a solution, but instead legalizes the current problem.
