

Submitter: Pete Thalhofer

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Rules

Measure: HB3414

This sounds like a bad idea. Developer can bypass many steps/ codes/ regulations, to build whatever they want wherever? I'm not in favor of this as written.

I believe that the governor probably does want things to go correctly, but this does not seem like the correct way.

I'm all for more affordable housing, so everyone can have a place to live, but giving developers the green light to build anywhere seems misguided.

I can see them building un affordable homes in historic areas, oh and guess what, only rich people can afford them?

So sorry you people that don't make lots of money, you can just go live under a bridge right? That's affordable to you, right?

Vote NO Vote NO Vote NO. Vote NO