BACKGROUND:

The Child Abuse Multidisciplinary Intervention Program, established in the Oregon Department of Justice, exists to maintain a coordinated multidisciplinary community-based system for responding to allegations of child abuse and ensuring the safety and health of children who are victims of child abuse. Children’s advocacy centers are a core feature of this system and are partially funded by grants administered by the Child Abuse Multidisciplinary Intervention Program. Children’s advocacy centers perform medical assessments, forensic interviews, and other support services as part of their child abuse assessment.
