I moved to Portland to be close to my children and grandchildren 10 years ago. Now I can't take public transportation in the evenings, walk home from theaters, nor meet friends for walks along the waterfront. I'm 77 years old and I don't feel safe, nor do my friends - my age, younger, or older. As I type this, I've been observing from our high rise the those drug overdosed just yards away, falling, screaming and flailing. Please be thoughtful of the majority of Portland residents.
